CORONAVIRUS VACCINE - HHS Secretary Alex Azar told CNBC about 40 million doses of vaccine will be available by the end of this month. That’s enough to inoculate about 20 million people since the Moderna and Pfizer-BioNTech vaccines require two shots. In a best-case scenario, the FDA will move quickly to authorize the two vaccines, allowing states to start distributing them in as little as two weeks. (Source: www.cnbc.com)

CYBER MONDAY - Holiday shoppers spent $10.8 billion on Cyber Monday, up 15.1% from a year ago, setting a record for the largest U.S. online shopping day ever, according to Adobe. (Source: www.cnbc.com)
